How to request a new ebt card pa

If you use an Electronic Benefits Transfer, or EBT, card when shopping, you will find restrictions on what you can buy. The EBT card is issued under the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program, otherwise known as SNAP or food stamps, and is administered by the U.S. Department of Agriculture to assist eligible individuals with buying nutritious food. You can use your EBT card to buy any food item - including meat, poultry, fish, vegetables or dairy item - from any store that accepts the cards. But you're not restricted to just supermarkets. Many convenience stores, independent meat markets and farmers markets also accept EBT. Defining what food is can be tricky, however, based on federal standards. Congress sets these standards, and only congressional legislation can alter the definition. While you can't get ornamental plants with an EBT card, any other plant that can be grown for food is eligible. This includes anything that produces fruits or vegetables, including seeds. Although some may argue that junk food is barely food, items such as soft drinks and potato chips can be bought with an EBT card. Special-occasion foods such as birthday cakes are also eligible, as long as the non-food decorations don't carry a higher value than the cake. Although Congress considered removing luxury food items from its eligibility list, the legislators decided that would create a bureaucratic nightmare. Because of this, you can buy seafood and pricey steaks - even organic food - with an EBT card. However, live animals such as fresh lobster pulled directly from the tank, animals intended for slaughter and chickens for laying eggs are not eligible. According to the USDA Food and Nutrition Service, you can buy some energy drinks with an EBT card. If the label shows a nutritional value, it is considered food and is eligible. But, if it has a supplements facts label, then it is considered a supplement and therefore not eligible for purchase. The EBT card can't be used to buy hot food or anything meant to be eaten on the premises. This leaves out restaurant meals and those hot, ready-to-eat chicken dinners at the supermarket deli. You also can't buy paper products, diapers, pet food, vitamins and supplements, beer, cigarettes or lottery tickets with your EBT card. Other government programs such as Temporary Assistance to Needy Families dispense cash assistance through an EBT card. Unlike the SNAP food program, this benefit can be used for non-food items or to get cash from an ATM machine. CCO/Skitterphoto/Pixabay Millions of people across the US qualify for food and cash assistance from the government. If you qualify for the programs, you'll be issued an EBT card. If you're new to the program, then you might not know how to use the card. Learn more about EBT benefits, how to check the amount on your EBT card and how to use your card in the store to purchase the items you need. What Is EBT? Electronic benefits transfer (EBT) programs are government programs that provide funds to qualifying individuals and families to pay for necessities, such as food, clothing or utilities. The funds are distributed to people electronically, and they can access the benefits using a government-issued debit card. Merchants accept benefits using a card terminal the same way they accept debit cards. What Are the Types of EBT Benefits? There are two main EBT benefits programs: SNAP and TANF. The Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) was previously known as the Food Stamp Program. This program provides funds that can only be used to purchase qualifying foods. The Temporary Aid to Needy Families (TANF) program provides cash benefits to low income families and refugees. This program isn't as restrictive as SNAP in terms of how funds can be spent. How to Check EBT Account Balance There are multiple ways to check your EBT account balance. The easiest is to call the toll-free number on the back of the card. The automated recording will prompt you to enter the account number and PIN, then relays the account balance to you. Each state is in charge of its own benefits programs, but they often each have a secure website set up to view your account balance. If you have a smartphone, download the Fresh EBT app. It's a free app available on Google Play and the App Store that allows you to check your SNAP and TANF benefits balances. It also helps you locate stores that accept your card. Limitations of EBT Before using your EBT card, it's important to understand how to use it and what you can purchase with the funds. When shopping with your SNAP benefits, keep in mind that the following items are not eligible: Prepared or hot foods Alcohol and tobacco products Paper goods Personal care items, such as soap and deodorant Pet food Medicine and vitamins TANF programs are run by each state, so restrictions vary. In general, recipients can spend the cash benefits any way they choose. Alcohol, tobacco and lottery tickets are among the most commonly restricted items, but they're not prohibited in all states. Using EBT at an ATM If you receive cash benefits through TANF, then you can withdraw cash from participating ATMs - just look for the Quest logo. Insert your card into the ATM and enter your secret PIN. Check your account balance or select the amount of cash to withdraw. Be sure to retrieve your card when you're done with the transaction. Check the rules and restrictions with your state. Some charge a fee for withdrawing cash and some allow a certain number of free withdrawals. Using EBT at the Store Using your EBT card at the store is the same as using a debit card. Before attempting to use the card, make sure that you're in one of the stores that accept EBT. These stores often have a sign on the front door or window, but you can ask for assistance also. When the cashier finishes ringing up your items, swipe or insert your card into the terminal. Enter your PIN to complete the transaction. If you purchased items that are not eligible, you'll need to provide additional payment. MORE FROM ASKMONEY.COM The benefits are transferred into an account in your name. You will be issued an Electronic Benefits Transfer (EBT) QUEST card by Fidelity National Information Services (FIS). The card is used like a debit card to withdraw your cash benefits from an Automatic Teller Machine (ATM) displaying the QUEST symbol, or used to purchase food with your Nutrition Assistance benefits. You may also use your QUEST card to purchase products from certain retail merchants. Please note: Arizona state law prohibits the use of the Cash Assistance EBT card at all ATMs and point-of-sale terminals located in liquor stores, gambling casinos, race tracks, adult entertainment establishments, and medical marijuana dispensaries. Arizona state law also prohibits purchasing lottery tickets with a Cash Assistance EBT card. Your Cash Assistance must be used only to provide for the basic needs of the children and adults for whom assistance is being provided. You are allowed to use your EBT card outside of Arizona. A notice will be sent requiring you to answer questions about your EBT usage when 10% or more of your benefit amount is used outside of Arizona during a six month period. You are responsible for your EBT Card, Personal Identification Number (PIN), and the use of your benefits. KEEP YOUR PIN PRIVATE! If your Cash Assistance or Nutrition Assistance account is accessed and used with your card or your EBT alternative holder card, the benefits will not be replaced. Benefits will not be considered for replacement until after they have been reported lost or stolen and will be limited to benefits remaining in your Electronic Benefit Transfer account as of the date of the report. Please read the How to Use Your Arizona EBT Card (FAA-1045A) for a guide on selecting your pin. Report Lost/Stolen EBT Card Contact the DES Office Locator or call FIS Customer Service at 1-888-997-9333 (TTY: 1-800-367-8939). The first replacement card in a calendar year is free. You are charged $5 for each additional replacement card. When you or your EBT alternate cardholder requests 3 or more replacement EBT cards within a 12-month period, you will be issued a replacement card, but you may not be able to use it until you make contact to explain the reason for the replacement EBT card request. Check Your Balance Call FIS Customer Service at 1-888-997-9333 (TTY: 1-800-367-8939) or Login to your EBT Account at FIS to review your transactions, check your balances, reset your PIN, contact customer service and much more. There's an App! ebtEDGE, a free mobile app for EBT cardholders, is now available in the Apple App Store (iOS) and Google Play Store (Android). Through this secure app, you will be able to see your benefit balances, SNAP retailer and ATM locations, benefit schedules, and a statement of the last 60 days of transactions made on your card. You will need to enter your EBT card number and PIN to access your account information. Add an Authorized User To add an authorized user to your EBT card complete and submit the Designation of EBT Alternate Card Holder form. SNAP Online Purchases You can use your EBT card for online purchases.
